Reinike building subdivision in Waveland borrow pit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The owner of a Waveland sand borrow pit plans to develop a lakeside subdivision in that area.

Red Reinike of Bay St. Louis, owner of the Nicholson Avenue pit, appeared at a Wednesday night Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting to explain his ongoing land reclamation project for the subdivision.

The aldermen at a previous meeting, as requested by Alderman Bob Hubbard, approved a formal request for Reinike to meet with the board because surrounding residents fear their property will be undermined by the developer's dredging work.

Another aspect of the project questioned was if Reinike could legally sell sand from the pit.

Lucien Gex, city attorney, explained that the pit, surrounded by residentially zoned property, has been classified as a non-conforming use because the sand mining operation existed prior to the establishment of Waveland's zoning restrictions.

But if the sand business ceased operation for one year the area would be reclassified as residential, the city attorney said.

John Scafide Jr., an attorney representing Reinike, countered that sand has been sold from the pit at least once every year for the last 40 years.

Gex said he did not know and would research if one sale annually in the borrow pit business could be legally defined as a continuous business operation.

"That's what makes great law suits," he remarked.

The board took the matter under advisement after Reinike invited the board to tour the area and agreed to assist the city in solving drainage problems on St. Joseph Street west of the pit.

Alderman Louis Smolensky said he felt the pit work was causing increased flooding in the St. Joseph Street area.

But Reinike disagreed and replied his dredging work recirculates water already in the pit; the increased flooding has resulted from recent unusually frequent rainfall and a blocked drain under Nicholson; and that the St. Joseph drainage problem has always existed.

Reinike said he is utilizing hydraulic dredging to move sand from the north side of the water-filled pit to the south and west shore area which will be filled in and divided into 22 waterfront lots.

He said the work is not threatening surrounding property.

In response to residents' complaints about Reinike selling sand from the pit as reported by Longo and Alderman Barbara Rappold, the developer said he only sells enough material from an area utilized as a weir so large dump trucks moving into the area will help compact and squeeze water from the pumped-in sand.

Reinike also said the relatively small amount of sand he sells is financing the small-scale dredging operation which builds about 15 or 20 feet of land daily.

He reported the sand, except for a 30-foot-wide strip to be formed into a

TO THE RESCUE—Emerging from waters of the Mississippi Sound after swimming to a boat that was in trouble Friday morning are 16-year-old Kirk Exnicious, left, of Waveland and Kenny Johnston, 17, of Bay St. Louis. The two young men rushed to get life jackets immediately after seeing a catamaran capsize in the Bay and only one of its passengers surface. Upon reaching the overturned craft they discovered that one of the boaters had a slight injury on his leg and the other boater's hands were injured. Because of their injuries the boaters couldn't get their craft righted, said Johnston. The two rescuers righted the boat and helped the men back into their catamaran. Exnicious and Johnston had been working in a yard at the corner of Bay Oaks and South Beach Boulevard when they saw the craft go over. Bay St. Louis officers Ben Palmer and Judy Childs were at the scene of the accident. (Staff photo by June M. Heydt)

Gex nominated to wildlife commission by state senate

By JUNE M. HEYDT

The appointment of Joseph William "Jody" Gex, a Bay St. Louis attorney to the Commission on Wildlife Conservation, was approved by the state Senate in Jackson on Friday.

Gex won the Senate confirmation 44-3.

However, Senator Tommy Gollott of Biloxi has filed a written motion to reconsider the confirmation. His motion was filed after senators had finished their business. Senate sources expect that Lt. Gov. Brad Dye will rule the motion invalid.

Gex will begin his five-year term at the commission's July meeting if Dye throws out Gollott's motion.

Gov. William Winter contacted Gex on Tuesday about his interest in the appointment, and was notified on Thursday to appear before the Senate Conservation Committee on Friday.

At Friday morning's hearing, only Gollott objected to his nomination. Gex will replace Gollott's cousin, Luther C. "Billy" Gollott, whom Winter refused to reappoint.

On the Senate floor, only two other senators, Jay Disharoon of Hazlehurst and W.L. Rayborn of Brookhaven voted against Gex.

Gex served on the Marine Conservation Commission from 1976 until 1980, when the commission was abolished. The current Commission on Wildlife Conservation took over the old commission's responsibilities.

The conservation panel oversees the Bureau of Marine Resources, which regulates seafood harvesting and marine conservation along the Coast.

Walter James Phillips, of Bay St. Louis, a law partner and cousin of Gex, was originally nominated for the commission by Governor Winter.

Phillip's nomination approval died on the floor of the Senate. Gollott also objected to Phillip's nomination.

Planes used in crops search

In a crackdown on illegal crops in Hancock County, as part of Governor William Winter's Domestic Marijuana Eradication Program, airplanes and helicopters were used over sections of the county this past week according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner said, "One small patch of eight plants was found, and we know there are others under cultivation."

"The activity was part of a training program for local law enforcement agencies conducted by the Drug Enforcement Agency. Governor Winter has instructed all state agencies to crack down on the domestic growing of marijuana in the state," Ladner added.

The investigator continued, "We feel there are plots of marijuana in Hancock, and with the use of helicopters and airplanes it is a lot easier to find."

In an unrelated arrest, Ladner said one person was arrested on Thursday for the sale of marijuana.

The investigator reported, "Leonard D. Strong, 26, Route 2, Box 480, Bay St. Louis was arrested in connection with the sale of marijuana on May 18 to plain clothes sheriff's deputies."

"Bond was set at $5,000 on Strong, with a preliminary hearing scheduled before Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson on July 18," Ladner stated.

Minacapelli's to feature Pulitzer Prize musical

Minacapelli's Dinner Theater will present "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," the Pulitzer Prize Winning Musical by Frank Loesser and Abe Burrows July 1 through Aug. 15.

"How to Succeed" deals with the rise of one J. Pierpont Finch to the top of World Wide Wickets Corp., without doing one lick of honest work.

A broad, biting satire, "How to Succeed" attacks big business in all its pompous aspects and takes a few swipes at male chauvinism and female aggression.

Playing the role of Finch is Ted Odom, a newcomer to Minacapelli's. He performed in "The Fifth of July" last year at the Contemporary Arts Center, then followed in "The Delta Queen," a new musical.

As Rosemary, the secretary who sets out for Finch and catches him, Lesley Lennox will be making her third Minacapelli's appearance, having previously performed in "Guys and Dolls" as a hat box girl and in "Fiddler on the Roof" as Hodel.

Another newcomer, Doug Christopher, will portray the pompous J. B. Biggley, a role created for and enacted by Rudy Vallee in the original production.

A veteran character actor, Christopher demonstrated versatility in Houston professional theater in such productions as "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," "Anything Goes" and "Hair."

The role of Finch's nemesis, Bud Frump, will be played by Will Wilkes who garnered critical acclaim last season with his portrayal of Cornelius Hackel in "Hello Dolly."

Singer LaVerne Butler will make her first Minacapelli's appearance as Smitty, Rosemary's best friend, while Davlin Ann Call makes a return visit as Jonesy, the boss' secretary.

Also in the large cast are Daniel Lund, Bill Lagan, Joseph Guidry and Sam Solomon.

"How to Succeed" will run performances on Friday and Saturday at 2:20 p.m. will be preceded by a 1 p.m. buffet. For reservations call 504-888-7000 in New Orleans or 504-643-9671 in Slidell.

The News for Hancock County

Warren Joseph Carver

Our long time friend Warren Joseph Carver was laid to rest on Saturday.

A native of Bay St. Louis, he served his beloved city as mayor for 12 years, always trying to make it a better place for its residents.

A person who liked beauty, his efforts were always towards the beautification of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

Having served as a president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, he was also a director in charge of beautification for many years, only giving up the position last year due to his health.

As a businessman, Warren will always be remembered for his concern for his fellowman.

His activity in so many civic ventures, helping them function, just like his dedication to his church, will be long remembered.

Words cannot express our feelings to his wife, children, relatives and friends.

We feel his dedication to God, family, county and city tells it all.

LITTLE RIVER—Water flowing from a broken water main on Beach Boulevard near Nicholson Avenue in Waveland is not only a nuisance to motorists, it is also washing away a large portion of the beach. Waveland officials report the leak is from an old cast iron pipe that is cracked in several spots and impractical to repair. New plastic pipes are already in the ground and will be utilized as soon as missing connectors arrive. The old water line will then be shut off and the leak stopped. (Staff photo by Randy Ponder)

Quotables by Cuevas

We would like to remind all fishermen of the importance of having fishing licenses renewed at this time.

June 30, the expiration day for licenses is fast approaching, and with the big July 4 weekend ahead, some may want to 'wet' a line.

We realize there is no need for a license for fishing in the Mississippi Sound, but, there are many areas a license is needed.

While on the subject of fishing, the Annual Blessing of the Shrimping Fleet sponsored by the Gulf Fishermen, Inc. and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for 2 p.m. this afternoon at Bayou Cadet.

We know the shrimpers, both commercial pleasure, are anxious for the opening of the Mississippi shrimping season, which is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday.

There will be food and refreshments available at Bayou Cadet during the blessing with all profits realized by Gulf Fishermen, Inc. go to the B.J. Asher Fund. We hope many will attend the big event this afternoon.

There will be first, second, and third place trophies in two categories. Boats 35 foot and under, and boats 35 foot and over.

We hope to see you at the fleet blessing.

Highway Patrol lists common errors of intoxicated driver

The Mississippi Highway Patrol has issued a list of warning signals to help motorists detect drivers who are intoxicated.

—Recognizing a drunk driver and taking defensive measures may mean the difference in life and death to the conscientious driver who does not drink alcohol or take drugs and drive," Col. Donald Butler, patrol chief, said.

"A tougher law goes into effect July 1 which provides stiffer penalties and fines for persons who are charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any other substance which has impaired one's ability to operate a motor vehicle," the chief added.

He said motorists should be alert and look for the following 20 mistakes most commonly made by drivers who are under the influence.

—Turning with a wide radius.
—Straddling center or lane markers.
—Appearing to be drunk (slouching, erratic or obscene gestures, eye fixation).

—Almost striking an object or other vehicle.

—Weaving.
—Driving on other than designated roadways (such as shoulders, off the pavement entirely, through turn-only lanes, etc.)

—Swerving.
—Slow speed.

—Stopping (without cause) in traffic lanes.

—Following too closely.

—Drifting.

—Tires on center lines.

—Braking erratically.

—Driving into opposing or crossing traffic lanes.

—Signaling inconsistent with driving action.

—Slow response to traffic signals.
—Stopping inappropriately (other than in traffic lanes).
—Turning abruptly or illegally.
—Accelerating or decelerating rapidly.

—Driving after darkness with the headlights off or with bright lights constantly on.

"If you see these errors being made by other drivers," concluded Butler, "the best bet is to stay clear and call a local law enforcement agency."

MAN WITH A MISSION

Our Secretary of Defense, Caspar Weinberger, doesn't shy away from the tough questions.

He answered a few of them the other day during taping of a television program with Congressman Jack Edwards, R-Ala., and me. Questions like these:

Q. Why are we all of a sudden trying to spend so much money on defense? How much can the country afford?

A. In the decade of the 1970s, defense spending in the U.S. actually declined by more than 20 percent in real terms. At the same time, the Soviet Union was increasing its spending on military programs without interruption. We let our guard down, which diminished our ability to deter attack. Now we're catching up, and if we value peace and freedom, we can afford as much as we need.

Q. Why are so many U.S. troops stationed in Europe? Why can't our NATO allies contribute more to defense of their own soil?

A. Most military points of view say a forward defense is more preferable and with U.S. troops deployed abroad we can protect our allies and ourselves.

Q. Is the Pentagon really serious about saving money and correcting wasteful practices?

A. Over the last two years, an estimated $13 billion to $14 billion has been saved, representing funds which will not have to be sought. Multi-year procurement, a special hotline to report wasteful activity, changes in contract monitoring and offering incentives for early delivery and penalties for late delivery all have helped. Some 122 programs of low priority have been eliminated.

From our interview, it was clear that Secretary Weinberger is a man with a mission. The big picture in defense is that America has embarked on a steady rebuilding program. "We are funding the most modern effective naval ships, like the Aegis guided missile cruisers being built at Ingalls Shipbuilding.

The MX missile system may finally be getting the congressional stamp of approval. Pay and benefits for military personnel like the 13,000 or so at Keesler Air Force Base are leading to improved morale and retention of skilled individuals.

The President has launched a new initiative in the field of arms control, one which focuses on the destructive power of Russian warheads, not just the number of their missiles.

Still, the tough questions have to be asked and realistic answers have to be given, especially in light of current economic times. More than $2.1 billion in total expenditures for payroll and prime contracts was spent in Mississippi in fiscal year 1982 for military programs.

Asking whether it is too much or not enough is like asking what price you would put on peace and freedom.

ANONYMOUS WORK OF ART—Dinosaurs have been spotted on the beach! This friendly looking character though, could probably be blown away with the next strong wind. The dinosaur, a sand sculpture, was lying comfortably on the beach at the foot of Bay Oaks Drive around 10 a.m. Friday. Although the sculptor is not known there are rumors circulating that a small boy was seen playing in the area earlier. (Staff photo by June M. Heydt)

You and Your Pet

BY MARTY CHAMBERS, MS

DID YOU FORGET:

—That your dog suffers from the heat much more than you do? Her body-cooling mechanism is much less effective than yours. This being so, during warm and hot weather it is better to walk your dog in the early morning or late afternoon, and you may want to wet her down before embarking.

Taking your dog for car rides during warm and hot weather is definitely not a good idea if you will have to leave her in a parked car even for a short time.

When the temperature outside is 85 degrees, the temperature in a car parked in the sun with the windows rolled halfway down will reach 100 degrees in 10 minutes.

—To give your pet fresh water in a clean bowl today? If your dog stays outdoors any length of time, put the bowl in a shady place so that the water will stay cool. Your pet needs water available at all time.

—To loosen your puppy's collar as she grows? The result of this oversight can be a collar embedded in your dog's flesh.

—After her walk, to remove your dog's choke chain or secure it in a non-slip fashion?

—If you keep your dog tied out at all, to make sure she cannot wrap her rope around any objects or strangle herself (as, for example, by having enough rope to jump a fence but not enough to touch ground on the other side)?

—To check for the presence of ticks under and around the car before driving away?

—That your inside dog needs to go out at reasonable intervals during the day? For your dog's health and comfort, let her out first thing in the morning, last thing at night, and every four to six hours during the day. Puppies and many older dogs need to go out more often.

PIANO FINALISTS
Marvin Hamlich hosts a special program featuring performances by the top three finalists in "The Gina Bachauer International Piano Competition" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, July 6, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Also featured are brief profiles of the three competitors, a biography of Gina Bachauer and an introduction of the international panel of judges. The Utah Symphony accompanies each performance.

Anti-war classic slated for METV

"Johnny Got His Gun," the 1971 film starring Jason Robards, Timothy Bottoms and Donald Sutherland and based on Dalton Trumbo's 1939 novel, can be seen on television for the first time at 9 p.m., Wednesday, June 29, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The story concerns a World War I doughboy, Joe Bonham, who returns home horribly injured by a German artillery shell.

His arms and legs are gone. His face has been blown away. He is blind, deaf and mute. His doctors are convinced that he is incapable of feeling, thought or communication and plan to use what's left of his body for medical research. They are wrong. Imprisoned inside his mutilated body, Joe Bonham's mind is active and alert and silently screaming for help. "Johnny Got His Gun" has been called "the most devastating anti-war film ever made." Jimmy Carter once called it "required viewing for every American." It won three Cannes Film Festival

Awards and an endorsement from the World Council of Churches.

When the film was first released in 1971, the Vietnam War was at its height. Despite an impressive cast and raves from the critics, the film was a commercial failure at the box office—perhaps because the emotions it raised were too raw for the times. It has since become an underground classic.

CLAUDIS RETURNS

"I, Claudius," one of the most popular and acclaimed series in PBS history, returns to WYES-TV/12 Thursday, June 30, at 9 p.m.

Ann Bancroft hosts the 13-part series which is based on two Robert Graves novels and chronicles the rise and fall of ancient Rome's Claudian family.

Derek Jacobi plays Claudius who inherits the throne by playing the fool and outliving his murderous relatives. Jacobi recently starred in the Shakespeare Plays production of "Hamlet."

TRAINING

Farming probably has more accidents than any other industry its size in Mississippi. Yet, safety training and safe work practices are seldom given priority on farms.

The opposite is true in most factories and industries that have experienced serious accidents and economic losses. They realize that training workers is an important part of preventing accidents.

Safety reminders are needed whether the job is operating a tractor or machinery, applying chemicals, doing shop work or other routine jobs around the farm. New and young employees have two to three times the number of accidents as experienced farm workers.

For each job done on the farm, safety precautions are given by machine manufacturers, chemical companies and others. If these precautions are followed, it will help reduce accidents.

We should accept the fact that farming is dangerous and using the proper safety measures can reduce accidents on the farm.

Become aware of the hazards on your particular farm. Get information about accidents and train yourself and others that work on or visit the farm. Use safe practices and expect employees to do the same.

Keep alert for unsafe conditions by inspecting areas. If an accident or near-accident happens, take steps then to keep it from happening again.

FLEAS, TICKS

The beginning of summer outdoor activities brings with it the annoyance of chiggers, mosquitoes, fleas and ticks. Controlling the pests prevents this nuisance and reduces the danger of pest-carried diseases.

Chiggers are also called red bugs, but are really small mites. To remove them, take a warm bath immediately. Apply an antiseptic to relieve welts, itching and prevent infection.

Mosquitoes are of great concern because of their ability to spread disease. The dog heartworm is carried by mosquitoes. Treating all breeding sites as standing water will help control mosquitoes.

Fleas cause irritating bites on animals and people and also carry diseases. Dusting or spraying animals, bedding and other hiding places with one of several insecticides is effective on fleas.

Materials are available to control and repel all four pests. Read and follow label usages and precautions before using. The County Extension Office has information on controlling pests.

beach along the lake, will be covered with red clay fill to enhance the property.

In another property matter, the mayor asked Scafide, who also represents a group which owns lots on Gulfside Drive adjacent to city land, to provide the aldermen a price for a rectangular strip of property next to a city well in that area.

The city erected chain link fences that infringe on property owned jointly by Joe Marochino, Joe Buccola, Horance Thompson and Alice Scafide, the attorney's mother.

Scafide asked the city to move the fences to their proper location.

Longo noted the city recently purchased a small section of land around the well for $1,000 after a survey revealed the Waveland facility was accidentally drilled on property owned by the group.

The city fence infringes on two almost rectangular portions of the group's property.

One infringed area near the well is 638 feet long, 30 feet wide on one end and 2.7 feet on the other, Scafide's map indicates.

The other land area is 156 feet long, 29.8 feet wide on one end and 23 feet wide on the other, the map also shows.

The attorney said the four investors want the fences moved so they can divide the land equally and sell it.

Longo asked if they would sell the city the uneven 638-foot strip to allow a larger area for maintenance at the well and to avoid moving the fence, but Scafide said no.

Herman Yarborough, an alderman and city utility department supervisor, noted more land area is needed around the well in case its pump needs repair.

However, Scafide said Joe Buccola, who will receive the land in that area, might be willing to sell a rectangular strip which would measure about 30 feet by 638 feet.

USM GRADS TO STUDY ABROAD—Kathleen Koch of Bay St. Louis, Melissa Thomas of Gulfport and Vialla Hartfield of Purvis will spend the next year in study abroad as Rotary scholars. Powell G. Ogletree, director of alumni affairs at

There's an old song that advises you to look for the silver lining. Certainly a good piece of advice. But here's some better advice! Save for the silver lining.

Save enough to line those dark clouds. It's easy. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. On the Plan, you set aside a little each payday for Bonds. And that'll chase some gloom away, right off.

But if dark skies should appear, remember, Bonds can help you find the sunny side of life.

Take stock in America.

Bay Rotary scholar to study in France

Melissa Thomas of Gulfport, Kathleen Koch of Bay St. Louis and Vialla Hartfield of Purvis, all 1983 graduates of the University of Southern Mississippi Honors College, have been selected to study abroad during 1983-84 as Rotary Scholars.

Powell G. Ogletree, director of alumni affairs at USM and past district governor of Rotary International District 684, made the announcement for the service organization.

Thomas and Koch will spend their year in France. Hartfield will study in Spain.

"They will have an opportunity to travel as they study the language and cultures of these countries and will also serve as goodwill ambassadors for the U.S. and the Rotary organization," Ogletree stated.

Dr. Mark Clark, a professor in the USM Honors College, spent 1973-74 at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, as a Rotary scholar.

"He was able to give the girls a better idea of what to expect from their year abroad," Ogletree reports.

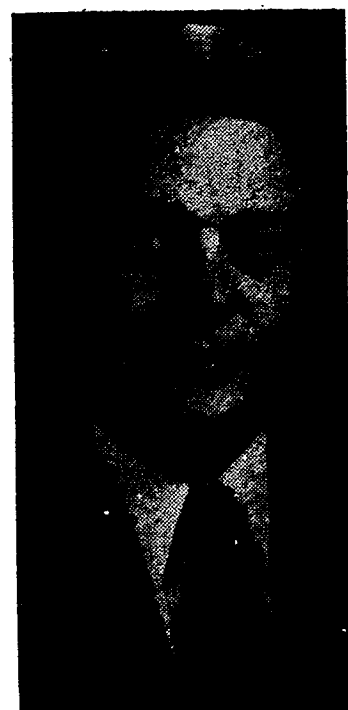

Public service official seeks re-election

Lynn Havens, Chairman of the Mississippi Public Service Commission (Southern District) has announced that he will seek re-election for a second term to the Southern District Public Service Commission post.

Havens stated that since taking the office in January of 1980, it has been the most challenging but rewarding position in which he has served.

"I sensed the need for a real strong voice for the consumer in utility regulatory matters and have taken that stand," said Havens. "The services which this Commission regulates vitally affect the economy and the well-being of our people." "I have been faced since 1980 with $414,357,000 in requested rate increases," Havens continued. "I have voted against $317,218,000 of those rate increases and by the end of this term will have been instrumental in securing in excess of $302,000,000 in rate refunds for the consumers of our state. The Commission will be faced with many major and complex problems in the immediate future, but I do not know of any position that I would rather serve in to benefit the citizens of Mississippi."

In the last sixty (60) days, Commissioner Havens has been successful in passing the Utility Reform Act which will provide the closer and stricter regulations that he advocated upon taking office in 1980. Also, the State Supreme Court has ruled in favor of the Commission in the Mississippi Power Company case and the Mississippi Power and Light Company case. The Mississippi Power and Light

HAVENS

Company case in 1980 was one in which Havens wrote the dissenting opinion, and cast the one dissenting vote against the increase. The Supreme Court has now upheld his dissenting opinion which will result in seventy million dollars plus in refunds. He believes that the point has been reached where all of those involved: Legislative, Judicial and Executive Branches of the Government are taking a conservative view on utility reform.

Commissioner Havens concluded by saying, "I am asking the people of the Southern District to allow me to serve them for a second term as Public Service Commissioner of the Southern District."

GARDENING

Those of you who were fortunate enough to plant early and avoid later washouts should have some garden vegetables ready for harvest. The rest of June will be a busy time for gardeners.

If you do have vegetables ready for harvest, harvest on time for peak quality. Then prepare the same space to make room for more vegetables.

Spray or dust sweet corn silks every three or four days to control corn earworms. Sweet corn needs 17 to 21 days from first silk to maturity. Harvest is not so critical with the newer, sweet hybrids.

As soon as corn is harvested, chop the stalks and turn them under to add organic matter to the soil. Prepare the area for planting winter squash and pumpkins in early July, or cauliflower, cabbage and beans in late July and early August.

As Irish potatoes mature, the vines will begin to yellow. Don't mistake leaf diseases for maturity. Spray with a fungicide to keep the leaves healthy until they yellow with maturity.

Dig potatoes in the cool part of the day and shade them from the sun. Don't wash potatoes to be stored unless they are muddy. Let them dry in a well-ventilated, dark place for several days and then store in a cool, dark place. Don't try to keep potatoes in the ground after the vines die. They are likely to rot if not dug.

Tomatoes will continue to need care and attention, including suckering, spraying for worms and diseases and mulching.

PRODUCTION COSTS

Knowing your estimated costs for producing a bushel of soybeans is an important step in making soybean profits in 1983.

If you don't already have a good estimate of your production costs, you need to make those calculations. Knowing your costs is important from both management and marketing standpoint.

From a management standpoint, you need to be able to compare soybean costs and returns with similar figures on other farm enterprises. Knowing production costs also is helpful in borrowing operating capital.

From a marketing standpoint, it's hard to know whether a particular price offered for the crop is profitable unless you know your costs. To a farmer with a $7.50 cost per bushel, a $7 price is not too attractive. To a producer with a $6.50 cost, the $7 price may be acceptable.

Costs include both direct, or out-of-pocket costs, and fixed expenses such as depreciation. In selecting a yield to use on your farm, figure the average for the past five to six years as a starting point.

Knowing your production costs won't guarantee a profit, but it will put you in a position to recognize a profit if it becomes available.

MR. AND MRS. TOMMY SPIERS

Pearlington vows join Kirkland, Smith

Pamela Gay Smith became the bride of Garland Gregory Kirkland in an afternoon double ring ceremony June 4 at First Southern Baptist Church in Pearllington with Rev. Steve Jackson officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Ray Smith of Pearllington. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Garland C. Kirkland of Slidell, La.

Arrangements of pink and white rosebuds and baby's breath adorned the sanctuary.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Michelle Bennett of Slidell and Mrs. Julie Boyd of New Orleans. Allen Bennett of Slidell was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of wedgewood lace and peau do sole fashioned with Victorian neckline and full bishop sleeves. Her tiered scalloped veil of illusion was appliqued with wedgewood lace enhanced with seed pearls. The gown and veil were designed by Mrs. Celeste Spiers, aunt of the groom.

She carried a modified cascade of pink and white silk rosebuds and baby's breath with satin picot ribbon.

Kimberly Kendrick of Biloxi attended the bride as maid of honor.

Bill Howell of Slidell served the groom as best man.

Miss Christy Jackson of Pearllington was flower girl and Joseph Derek Hover of Picayune was ring bearer.

Serving as ushers were Louis Ray Smith of Bay St. Louis and Timothy James Smith of Pearllington, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a one piece grey and white linen street length dress with matching accessories.

The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece beige and brown silk street length dress with matching accessories.

A reception followed the ceremony at First Southern Baptist Church friendship hall.

The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake decorated with delicate pink lace and pink sugar rosebuds.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Gail Griffin, Mrs. Rhonda Ladner, Mrs. Ember Smith, Mrs. Muriel Smith, Mrs. Mattie Anderson and Mrs. Morine Smith.

For traveling to the Gulf Coast the bride chose a deep turquoise dress with full skirt and ruffled collar.

The couple will reside in Pearl River, La.

Spiers celebrate 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy (Bertha) Spiers of Picayune were honored Saturday, May 28 on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary with a reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bay St. Louis. The event was hosted by their three children: Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ray Spiers, Mr. and Mrs. Hayward Spiers of Bay St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mitchell of Orange, Texas. Preparations for the party were also handled by the Spiers' 8 grandsons and 7 granddaughters.

Hazel Spiers, granddaughter, presided at the guest register. Nine great-granddaughters, all dressed in pink lace ruffled dresses over taffeta with halos made of pink rose buds, served as flower girls for the occasion. Three great-grandsons served as ringbearers. Refreshments for the party were prepared and served by family members.

Mrs. Spiers chose a floor length gown of pink chiffon over taffeta featuring a wedding band neckline trimmed with lace on a scooped round yoke with circle effect in back. Full sleeves with lace trim were held by deep cuffs with calla points trimmed in lace and a full skirt that was designed with points at the hemline. To accent her dress she wore a pink rose and reseed corsage with gold ribbon inscribed with "50th Anniversary." Her dress was designed by her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

The wedding vows were repeated by Rev. Charlie Alexander of Picayune. Music for the occasion was provided by the Night Travelers of Gulfport.

The hall was decorated with baskets of potted, blooming flowers and ferns. The table covered with white lace cloth featured a four tier wedding cake decorated with roses and topped with a double row of white roses and golden leaves which were arranged around a large "50th" centerpiece in gold given by their grandson Eddie and Wanda Spiers. A bride and groom dressed in golden lace stood on the second tier of the cake which was made by the Spiers' daughter-in-law, Alice and Elaine Spiers. A brass caldabarra and a large silk flower arrangement decorated the table.

Many guests, friends and relatives on both sides, attended the reception including Mrs. Spiers' only aunt and uncle, Arthur "Pat" Garcia, her mother's brother of Lakeshore; Mr. Spiers' sister-in-law, Mae Spiers, 88, of Picayune; Mrs. Spiers' five sisters, Rose Carver Embry, Maybell Karl, Magnolia Lusich, Dorothy Miller, Carrie Rouques; and two brothers, Prentice and Curtis Asher, all of Bay St. Louis.

Epilepsy group seeks 1983 poster child

The Epilepsy Foundation of Mississippi, state affiliate of the Epilepsy Foundation of America, is looking for a youngster between the ages of 6 and 11 to represent the affiliate as 1983 Poster Child.

The winning candidate will also be the affiliate's entry in the foundation's National Poster Child Contest.

Sister Josephine Therese of Jackson, president of the EFM, noted that any boy or girl between the ages of 6 and 11 is eligible if he or she has epilepsy.

"An estimated two million Americans have epilepsy," said Sister Josephine Therese, "and there are approximately 40,000 men, women, and children who have the common neurological disorder

Each year an Epilepsy Poster Child is chosen to dramatize the fact that people with epilepsy can lead relatively normal lives with the help of medications and understanding of the disorder.

About 50-60 percent of those with epilepsy can completely control their seizures. Another 20-25 percent attain partial control, but the remainder receive no help at all from present anticonvulsant medications.

"The name of the youngster selected to represent the EFM this year will be announced by July 7," said Sister.

Entry blanks for the contest may be obtained by contacting Betty Lockhart at 362-2761, or by writing the Epilepsy Foundation of Mississippi, 3000 Old Canton Road, Suite 470, Jackson, MS 39216. The local contest closes July 1.

The foundation is a United Way member agency.

The Sea Coast Echo Book Review

A Mississippi artist's book about a magic cat has received an award of excellence from the Southeastern Library Association in the annual Southern Book Awards.

Walter Anderson's "Robinson: The Pleasant History of an Unusual Cat" has been singled out for merit in design from a field of 137 entries in the competition for books published by southern presses.

Walter Anderson, a Mississippi Gulf coast artist who died in 1965, wrote and illustrated the story of Robinson the cat for his own children in the 1940's.

The story concerns a stray cat that is transformed into a musical prodigy when he drinks a saucer of magic milk. Anderson's linoleum block prints illustrate the text. The book was published last December by the University Press of Mississippi.

Larry Hirst, now a member of the art department at Delta State University and formerly production manager at the University Press, designed the book.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

When Jesus came to the region of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others, Jeremiah or one of the prophets." "But what about you?" he asked. "Who do you say I am?"

Simon Peter answered, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus replied, "Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah, for this was not revealed to you by man, but by my Father in Heaven. And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it. (Matthew 16:13-18)

Jesus begins this section with a question, "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" By this question he begins to lead to the great confession made by his disciples.

The apostles chose to give the most favorable reports as they could have mentioned the references to Him by some that he was an agent of Beelzebub. They could have reported that he was a prophet as some thought that he was merely another prophet. However the apostles chose to give the most favorable ones including John the Baptist, Elijah, and Jeremiah.

And then there was the big question, as it remains with us, "Who do you say that I am?" This question struck down to the depths of their hearts and called for a conviction; it probed to the very depth of their faith and called for a clear and definite expression of their faith.

Jesus did not care so much what others thought of Him, but he wanted an expression from his disciples as to what they believed about him. In answer to the other question the disciples could relate the various opinions that others had of Jesus, but his question called for faith and not opinion!

Simon Peter true to his prompt, decisive nature, always ready to speak out, whether for himself or for his brethren, gave this clear, emphatic, and decisive answer, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

"Christ" is Greek for "the Messiah"; Messiah is the Hebrew for anointed, and means the anointed of God as the Redeemer of the world. "The Son of God" is put in contrast with "the Son of Man"; he is not merely the man or human, but he is divine, "the Son of the living God."

The same question is asked of all that would receive the free gift of salvation today. "Who do you say that the Son of man is?"

If you believe with all of your heart that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God then you too can be his disciple and receive eternal life!

But then having your sins forgiven is only the beginning of the abundant life in Jesus Christ!

ETV Brief

READ FOR FUN

"Reading Rainbow," a major new television series for children that is designed to motivate them to read books during the summer months premieres on the Mississippi ETV Network at 9:30 a.m., Monday, July 11. Each week-daily program will be rebroadcast at 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. LaVar Burton is host.

By introducing young children to books in a variety of exciting, entertaining and pertinent ways, "Reading Rainbow" aims at offsetting the "summer loss phenomenon," when young children lose some of their newly acquired reading skills.

"One of the great things about 'Reading Rainbow,'" said Burton, "is that it encourages kids to read for the right reasons — not because they should, but because it's fun. Pick up a book and you can travel anywhere in the universe. You'll never have a problem entertaining yourself, and you'll never have to be lonely."

"Reading Rainbow" uses a magazine-style format to highlight one feature book each show.

Guest narrators include James Earl Jones, Lily Tomlin, Lou Rawls, Madeline Kahn, Vincent Gardenia, Maya Angelou, Ruth Buzzi and Michael Ansara.

The theme of each book is expanded through animation, music, dramatizations and field trips to such varied places as Dinosaur National Park or the Crow Indian Reservation in Montana.

WELCOME PLANNED—Members of the Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis and Waveland United Methodist Church are planning a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, July 10 to welcome their new pastor, Curtis Moffat, and his family. Moffat, Jackson native and graduate of Millsaps College there and Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., has served churches in Pelahatchie, Raymond, Summit, Mississippi City, Gautier and Pearl. He has also served as a chaplain at the Gulfport Veterans Administration Hospital. Moffat and his wife Dell have three children: Keith, married and a student at Ole Miss; Kathy, Belhaven graduate who plans to teach at Main Street Methodist's Children's Center; and Beth, a college sophomore.

WORD OF GOD

Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind: It is abomination.

Neither shalt thou lie with any beast to defile thyself therewith: neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie down thereto: It is confusion.

Defile not ye yourselves in any of these things: for in all these the nations are defiled, which I cast out before you: Leviticus 18:22-24

MEN: THE NEW SHOPPERS

Once considered women's work, shopping for the weekly groceries is being handled more and more by the man of the family. About one-third of super-market shoppers are men, according to a recent survey by the Food Marketing Institute.

Changes in America's lifestyles are in part accountable for men venturing into the grocery stores.

In 1981, there were more than 7 million men living alone, double the number of a decade ago, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Nearly 2 million more maintain families without a wife present.

Married men also are getting more involved in food shopping as more wives join the work force. More than half the married women in the United States with children now work outside the home.

While many men have enjoyed cooking for years, others are newcomers to the art and may be bewildered at first about how to shop.

Nutrition education materials and shopping guides have been targeted mostly toward women in the past. But the basics of good nutrition and sensible shopping are easy to pick up.

Here are some suggestions:

- Buy only reasonable amount of food that can be used before spoiling. Avoid over-buying bargains. Plan ahead and keep in mind preparation time needed and whether your schedule can accommodate that much time. Consider how leftovers might be used.
- Look at the unit cost of foods when comparing selection. Take a pocket calculator along to figure the best deals. It pays to learn how to use and prepare less expensive cuts of meat.
- Make a list before you go to the store, and don't shop when you are hungry, or you might buy things you don't really need. If you shop once a week, you'll spend less on food than if you stop to buy something on impulse every couple of days.
- Men who aren't used to buying for child-size as well as adult-size appetites tend to overbuy. Buying the correct amount for different-age family members is especially important in the meat department where the largest portion of the food budget is spent.

Men shoppers should also take a careful look at convenience foods. They may not realize that they're paying for services they could just as easily perform themselves.

Important information to use in selection foods is probably right on the label. It can help you compare the nutritive value and ingredient composition of different foods.

If a food label provides nutrition information, it gives the size of a serving, the number of servings in a container, the number of calories and amount of protein, fat, and carbohydrate in a serving and the amounts of eight other nutrients as a percentage of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance.

Everyone, not just men, should be concerned about using the information that's on food products. It's there for you to use.

Many men are concerned with physical fitness, but sometimes neglect the direct relationship between good nutrition and good health. Providing your body with the nutrients it requires is a necessary foundation for fitness.

You could run 20 miles a day, but still be low on the fitness curve if you ignore the importance of proper diet.

In the supermarkets and in restaurants, people are beginning to make health-conscious nutritional choices. Increasingly, people are aware that starting the day with a good breakfast helps them feel better, think better and perform better.

It's very easy to have a nutritious breakfast quickly. Ready-to-eat cereals, especially those that are enriched, make an excellent breakfast. So does cottage cheese and bananas with orange juice. Some people like a peanut butter sandwich.

Any of these is a better alternative than no breakfast at all, or one that provides only empty calories.

The most important thing for men to be concerned about is providing themselves and their families with a well-balanced diet, with food from all the food groups. When you're eating the right foods, there is no need to resort to supplements.

For men as well as women, the basics of good nutrition and good shopping are simple: plan ahead, read labels; and eat a variety of foods every day from these four food groups:

- The vegetable and fruit group includes all fruit and vegetables;

- The bread and cereal group includes all products made with whole grains or enriched flour or meal, such as bread or muffins, pancakes, cereals and spaghetti;
- The milk and cheese group includes milk in any form, including whole or skim, also yogurt, ice cream and cheese;

- The meat, poultry, fish and beans group includes beef, lamb, pork, poultry, fish, shellfish, dry beans, or peas, eggs, nuts and peanut butter;

Men have the same responsibility as women in terms of shopping -- to inform themselves about the best buys nutritionally and about nutrient needs before they go to the supermarket.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

After the rites of April 15, saving taxes may seem more like a mid-summer's night dream than a reality. But if you have children, they may be a blessing in more ways than one.

Credit To Parents

Two-income couples and working single parents often solve the summer vacation "problem" by sending a child or two to camp. So long as the camp doesn't provide significant educational services, the entire cost of the stay may qualify for the child-care credit.

The allowable amount ranges from 20 to 30 percent of child care expenses, scaled to the parents' adjusted gross income and to the number of children.

For example, the maximum credit for one child is $720 for taxpayers with income below $10,000.

Those earning in excess of $28,000 would be entitled to a maximum benefit of $480. Two or more children raise the limit to $1,440 and $960 respectively.

For the next three weeks I'll be writing about some common causes of financial problems and possible solutions.

Medical Bills Piling Up? —The family that does not include medical expenses in their financial plan often finds that there is no money to pay for medical bills as they occur.

Traditionally, medical billing has been very low-keyed, and people who didn't pay promptly were not hounded for payment. In recent years, this has become less and less true, as more medical billing is handled by professional collection services.

Some families run up hundreds of dollars in medical bills before a doctor or clinic seriously tries to collect. Some doctors or clinics then refuse service if no payment is made.

Perk Players cited

The Perk Players, a drama group of Gulf Coast Junior College's Perkinson Campus, were honored recently by the Harrison County Training Center for Exceptional Children.

A certificate of appreciation and a vase made by the art class were presented to Kathryn Lewis, director of the players, by Wilder Switzer, director of the center.

Each fall when the Perk Players perform at local schools, they include a courtesy performance for the children at the center.

UPCOMING ATTRACTIONS

With vacation time approaching, I clear my desk of a few odds and ends.

We are in the midst of "summer entertainment," i.e. generally mindless, escapist fare that's fun for everyone.

Action films like "Superman III," "Octopussy," "Return of the Jedi" and "Blue Thunder" are all doing exceedingly well at the box office.

And while I have no qualms about these films, I still look forward to fall when the so-called "serious films" hit the local screens. Serious films win Oscars, action films win applause. Some of the films to be released this fall include:

"Scarface," a film by Brian DePalma starring Al Pacino.

Early in his film career, Pacino starred in a series of powerful, realistic dramas including "Godfather I and II," "Dog Day Afternoon" and "Serpico."

In an attempt to curb his image of a neurotic, power-hungry czar, Pacino accepted roles in films like "Bobby Deerfield," "And Justice For All" and "Author, Author." Although these films were adequate, they didn't provide the range and impact of his earlier work.

In "Scarface," Pacino will team with director Brian DePalma for a story on a Miami mafia figure.

DePalma has produced his share of interesting pictures in the last few years including the critically acclaimed, "Sisters," "Carrie," "Blowout" and "Obsession."

With DePalma directing and Pacino starring, "Scarface" should be an explosive movie.

Babara Streisand has her first directing chores in "Yentle," expected out by Christmas. Streisand also stars in this movie about a young Russian Jewish girl who must pretend she is a boy in order to study at a university.

A kind of serious "Tootsie." Whatever the analogy, Streisand has always chosen her film projects carefully and "Yentle" should be an interesting movie.

Sean Connery, who made seven of the 13 James Bond films, returns this fall in "Never Say Never Again," a remake of "Thunderball" which depicts the debonair secret agent in his later years.

Although the producer of the Bond series, Albert Broccoli, is attempting to block its distribution, "Never Say Never Again" will probably reach area theaters in late September.

Sergio Leone, the "spaghetti western" kingpin with films like "A Fistful of Dollars" and "Once Upon a Time in the West," has twisted Robert DeNiro from the grasp of director Martin Scorsese for his new film, "Once Upon a Time in America."

"America" will be the story of the growth of the mafia in the United States. Of course DeNiro plays the intense character better than most anyone, having won an Oscar for his performance as a young Don Corleone in "Godfather II."

"Once Upon a Time in America" should be one of the big movies at next year's Academy Awards.

And finally, John Irving's "The Hotel New Hampshire" will reach the screen with two of the industry's brightest young actresses in the leads, Nastassia Kinski and Jody Foster. Irving's overwhelmingly successful "The World According to Garp" was transformed to film last year with mediocre results. Once can only hope that with Kinski and Foster in the leads, "The Hotel New Hampshire" turns out better.

So enjoy the action films for now, the serious films are just around the corner.

Trading Places

(R)

Another outlandish John Landis film.

"Trading Places" is a cute comedy fueled by Eddie Murphy's manic performance and fashioned around an updated "Prince and the Pauper" routine.

Starring Dan Aykroyd as Louis Winthorpe III and Murphy as Billy Ray Valentine, "Trading Places" asks the humorous question, "Is a life more influenced by heredity or environment?"

Hours," gives another fine comedic effort in his rise from beggar to broker. And Aykroyd, while suffering somewhat from the tired, classy East Coast slang, still manages to win our approval and admiration, even while stuffing a smoke salmon down his filthy Santa Claus outfit...it's that kind of movie, folks.

The surprise, of course, is seeing two veteran actors like Bellamy and Ameche having such large, integral parts in a contemporary movie. They play very well to the camera and their presence helps this film considerably.

Director John Landis, who is currently embroiled in the state of California's investigation into the tragic helicopter crash which claimed the lives of actor Vic Morrow and two children while filming a segment of Steven Spielberg's "Twilight Zone" (reports are that Landis will soon be indicted on involuntary manslaughter charges), has produced his share of interesting movies in recent years.

Among his achievements are "The Blues Brothers," with Aykroyd and John Belushi, and "An American Werewolf in London."

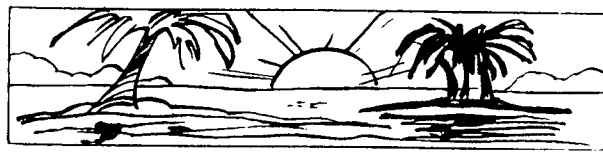

In both "The Blues Brothers" and "Werewolf," Landis resorts to a chaotic ending to help tie up all the loose ends. It seems Landis feels there's no easy way to end a movie, so he heaps fights, car crashes and screaming hoards onto the already developed characterizations and storyline in the hope that, when the dust settles, our heroes will emerge victorious.

In "Trading Places," Landis again displays his propensity toward outright confusion and chaos, rather than a simple ending.

Still, with the performances of Murphy, Aykroyd and Curtis, and a whimsical script by Timothy Harris and Herschel Weingrod, "Trading Places" is nice enough entertainment for the hot summer months.

"Trading Places," which is now showing at the Choctaw Cinema IV, has been rated "R." It features extensive foul language, nudity and adult situations. Parental discretion is highly recommended.

The Bahamas consist of nearly 700 islands and about 2300 rocky islets and reefs.
